

The three key messages to take away are:

No single company can tackle Scope 3 on its own; collaboration is essential

Solutions already exist and are being implemented

Perfection is the enemy of good; the most important thing is to start